DEDICATION

. . . so this book is but a record,
a compilation of just one year,
but an album of treasured pictures
Reminding us of lost scenes and sessions,
Bringing to us fond recall of friends and faces in afterglow when we are reminiscing and nostalgializing in the twilight,

a record

To help us to not forget these good days wherein part our lives expended.
More this book than compilation,
more it is than mere record —
in itself a Dedication to JC in its entirety.
And these simple words to show this,
to show the way of dedication,
to direct it to that which follows;
To each section and subsection,
To each paragraph, line and picture,
To each office and its person,
To each thought and word and action.
Thus in each section a dedication.
First a dedication to . . .

Administration

DR. J. D. LOGSDON

Our conscientious superintendent, Dr. J. D. Logsdon — friend of JC — has a sign in his office which reads: "This is the boss's office — if you don't believe it just start something."

He has been the administrative guide at Thornton for the past three years, having previously served at Shorewood High School in Wisconsin. After earning his B.Ed. at Illinois State Normal University, Dr. Logsdon achieved his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Chicago.

Besides his work at Thornton he carries out the duties of the second vice-president of the National Association of Secondary School Administrators. This past summer Dr. Logsdon attended a conference dealing with the topic of international understanding, held in England and sponsored by the Atlantic Treaty Association, in which all NATO countries were invited to participate.

LEE DULGAR

Everyone at JC is familiar with Mr. Lee Dulgar, Dean of Thornton Junior College. Besides his many administrative duties, Dean Dulgar, as the students call him, always has had the time to give his capable and helpful guidance to the JC'ers. He shows his interest in JC by showing interest in her students.

Dean Dulgar earned his B.Ed. at Eastern Illinois State Teacher's College and his M.A. from Northwestern University. Last fall Dean Dulgar, along with Mr. Fred T. Ehlert and Mr. Henry Vandenburg, president of the Board of Education and Board member respectively, attended the meeting of the Illinois association of collegiate registrars and admissions officers in Allerton Park, Illinois. He also attended many other conferences throughout the year.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Students at Thornton are indebted to the Board of Education for the capability they have demonstrated in carrying out the many duties and obligations which fall on them in their job of serving the High School and the Junior College.

Seated: Mrs. M. Pebworth; Mr. F. Ehlert, president; Mr. H. Gouwens. Standing: Mr. H. Greiner; Mr. L. Boudreau; Mr. R. Reese; Mr. H. Vandenberg.

P.T.A.

The members of the Thornton Township P.T.A. are always ready to give their assistance to school officials in fulfilling policies and duties of the Junior College.

Standing: Mrs. J. McCullough, Mrs. N. Perlman, Mrs. R. Gordon, Mrs. R. Wolf, Mrs. E. Moravek.
Seated: Mrs. C. Schroeder, Dr. J. D. Logsdon, Mrs. J. Wood.

MR. WALDSCHMIDT

Serving capably in the position of township treasurer is Mr. August Waldschmidt.

Mr. Waldschmidt handles all financial matters connected with the schools in Thornton Township. He has held this position for twenty-two years.

MR. EVANS

Mr. Burton Evans serves Thornton Township in the capacity of school attorney, a position which he has held for the past twenty-one years.

Mr. Evans handles all legal matters concerning the schools in this district, including the legal matters for the new Thornridge High School in Dolton.

In conference—two veterans of Thornton and TJC discuss some business.

JAMES L. BECK

Noted for his high degree of understanding, guidance, friendship, and wit, Mr. James L. Beck, formerly known as Dean Beck, is a familiar figure on the campus of TJC.

This is Mr. Beck's second year as assistant superintendent to Dr. Logsdon. Prior to that, Mr. Beck served as Dean of Men in the Junior College.

He received his A.B. and B.S. degrees in Education from Ohio University and his M.A. degree from the University of Chicago.

MISS GRACE HOLTON

The Union Room and room 310 make up the base of the triangle; the office with the door which says Dean of Women is its apex. One may usually find Miss Holton at a point on this triangle during any time of the school day. This is a good thing, for she is a woman often sought by both the women and the men of the college for her most valuable and helpful counseling.

She may be found in the Union Room where she may be buying a cup of coffee or giving some advice to the sorority in charge of the kitchen, for the Co-ed Club benefits from her expert sponsorship. She may be in room 310 where she teaches English literature, contemporary novel, and Shakespeare. Or she may be in her office where she carries out her administrative and counseling duties.

Miss Holton received her B.A. and M.A. degrees from Duke University.

MISS DORIS HALVERSON

Each book is worth its weight in gold — a library, therefore, is a gold mine of books where gold diggers can study in quiet or assay the values of the sundry books. At one end is the stack room where many books of a classified nature can be found. In the library proper are valuable reference books, books in French, German, and Spanish, and different types of magazines and newspapers. And there is the fiction corner — a little nook where one can relax in an armchair to read some of his favorite selections.

Every college needs a good library and library staff; and with Miss Doris Halverson in charge, TJC is really hip. Our capable librarian, with her extensive background of library science work, is well prepared to assist students in their studies and researches.

Miss Halverson received her B.A. from Macalester College and her B.L.S. from Drexel Institute.

On Friday, Nov. 21, Bloom junior college held an informal dance with an open invitation for the Thornton JC students. The doors of their large, modern library were opened at 8:30 p.m.

HOMECOMING

There was rain in the morning.

There was rain in the afternoon and the Bulldogs slid and slipped on the muddy grid. JC'ers huddled under damp blankets while straggly-haired cheerleaders did their best to keep up spirits. But the elements of nature and Lasalle-Peru were a little too much for the mighty Bulldogs.

There was rain but inside the gym things were high and dry. It was organized confusion. Jean Smith was busy directing the decorations committee. Fred Fallin and Tom Kee were vying with each other to see who would finally direct the entertainment. Fred won, as he was supposed to do it anyway. Audrey Antkovic tore her hair for she was directing the whole shebang.

There was rain at night when we picked up our dates or our dates picked us up, as the case may be. We walked through the football. We danced. We were entertained. We watched the procession of the court mount the steps and waited breathlessly until Denny O'Connor and Carol London announced the king and queen and we cheered when they crowned Don and Sandy. . . .

"Or did you ever kiss a girl and just then she decides to smile?
And you meet two cold teeth?"

. . . ond there wos roin ofter the donce. When we left we went to o restouront with our crowd.

And ofter dinner we went out ond the sky hod cleared ond the night wos very, very fine. . . .

Tony ond his Boy Scouts. Looks like o winner! Paul: "Hey, send down the Schick." Kee: "Hmm, it tostes like. . . ."

Smooth sounds provided by Phil Dicolo.

SLEIGHBELL BALL

We had a ball at the Sleighbell, held at Southmoor Country Club. After the dance had been held, Southmoor became rather hostile but that's esoteric.

A real swingin' dance—one of those nights.

Different moods.

The coal type. Has anyane seen Honey Adams' face? But the real name will nat be hidden. It's Susan Vahl.

Bab's laaking at Adele, Adele's laoking at Paul, Paul's laoking at Judy and Judy's laaking away. Fred gat the odd table. And Arj is laughing 'cause he got 'em all last.

Russ, why are you smiling?

Seated in fareground: Donna Claytan, Donna Braswell.
Seated: Britta Olssan, Audrey Antkavic, Judy Masters, Jean Andersan.
Standing: Judy Morris, Sue Sasso.

STAGGETTE

The bevy of lovelies above show the spirit of the Staggette. They are the court chosen by the co-eds and one of them is queen or. this lovely night.

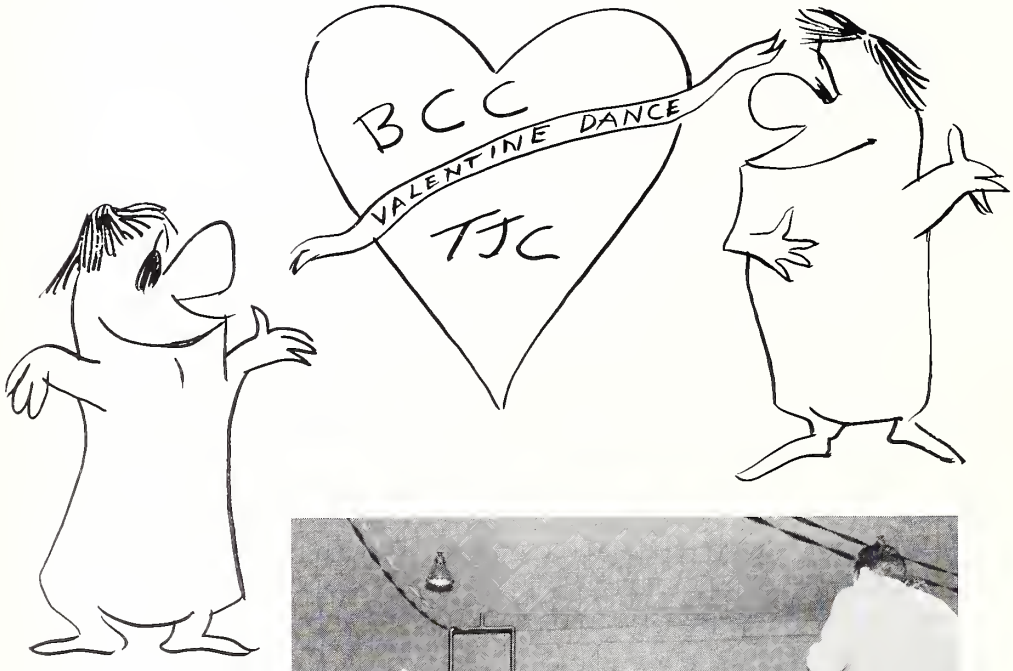
Yes, it is a night of romance—a night when the chick looks up at the guy and she knows she picked this playmate. They are dancing a waltz to the moody music of Don Baker. The setting is the Louis XVI room in the Southmoor Hotel by the lake.

VALENTINE DANCE

Soph class president and secretary-treasurer jump at Valhalla.

Heigh-O Silver, Heigh-O Silver. And Kenny Tibbs wailed and moaned. And Jump Jackson made his combo move. And the sounds went to the heads, to the feet and JC'ers bopped and swayed to the hot and cool.

This swing party was called Valhalla — Viking heaven — but only four Vikings showed since BCC had a lot of goin's on. But this was a real dance, the swingingest.



Jump cools it.

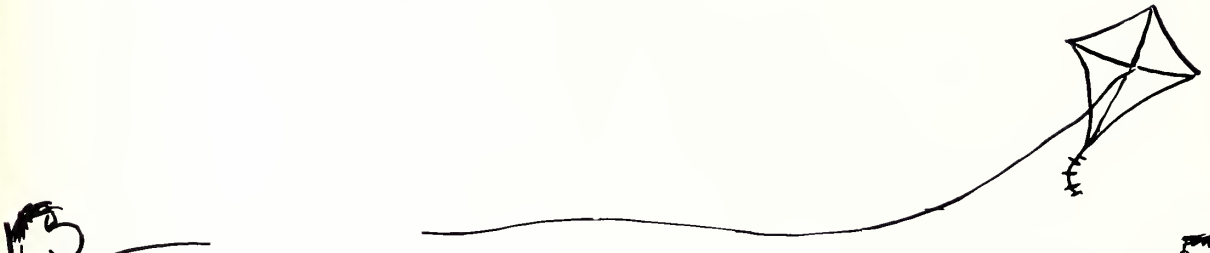
I'm on my way to the stars.

Sophisticated.

Not sophisticated.

After the ball is over.

All are happy . . . well . . . nearly all.

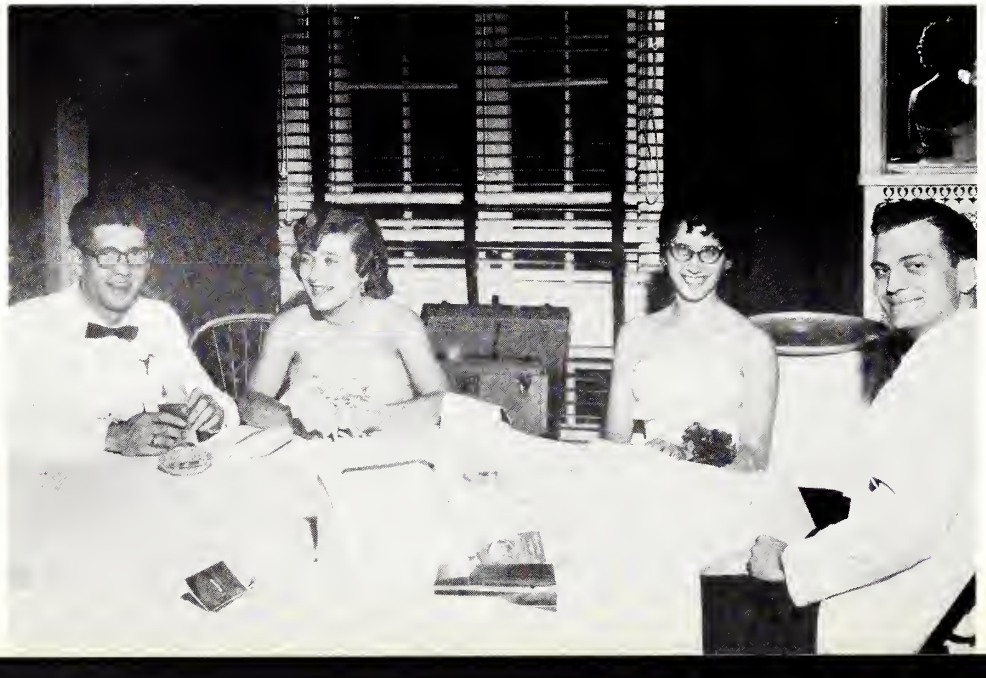


"It was just one of those things, just one of those fabulous flings. A flight to the moon on gossamer wings, just one of those things."

And so it was, for this was prom night—the night not to be forgotten.

This night of nights—Caribbean Holiday—was held in the luxurious Skyroom of the Sherry Hotel. Pounding surf. Tropical breezes. Soft light. And he held her as they danced to the sounds provided by Vic Faraci.

Then they went to their favorite night spot and stayed till dawn. At least, that's when the night ended. But tomorrow . . .



Au table.

Another JC crowd.

. . . Tomorrow came.

Rubbing the sleep out of their eyes, the chick and the guy drove east to the Dunes. If the night before had been the night of nights, then this was the day of days.

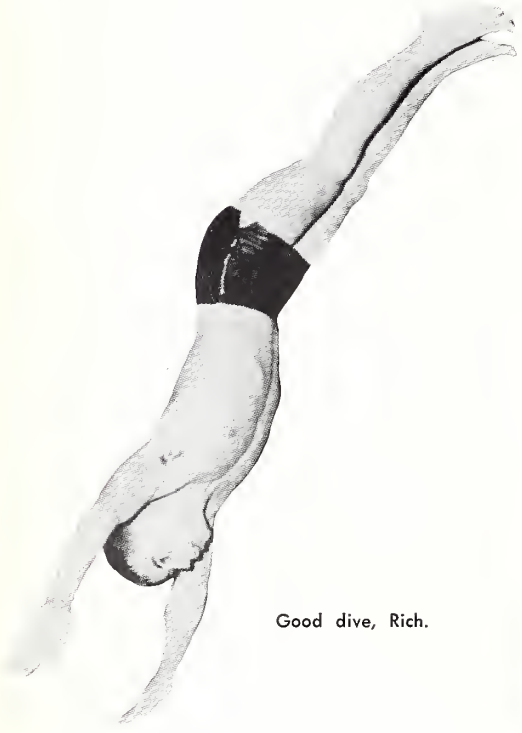
Ouch, that water's cold. Volleyball. Football. Baseball. Sand. Rest. Pounding waves. He . . . and . . . she . . .

And when this fabulous affair was over they all said their au revoirs. Some for the last time . . .

P R O M

Kee's favorites.

Well, it's a good picture of the clock.



Good dive, Rich.

And now, following Rich, is Ken Potts. Lotsa' luck fella.

Morning council—early morning. You can tell 'cause there's no empty bottles on the table.

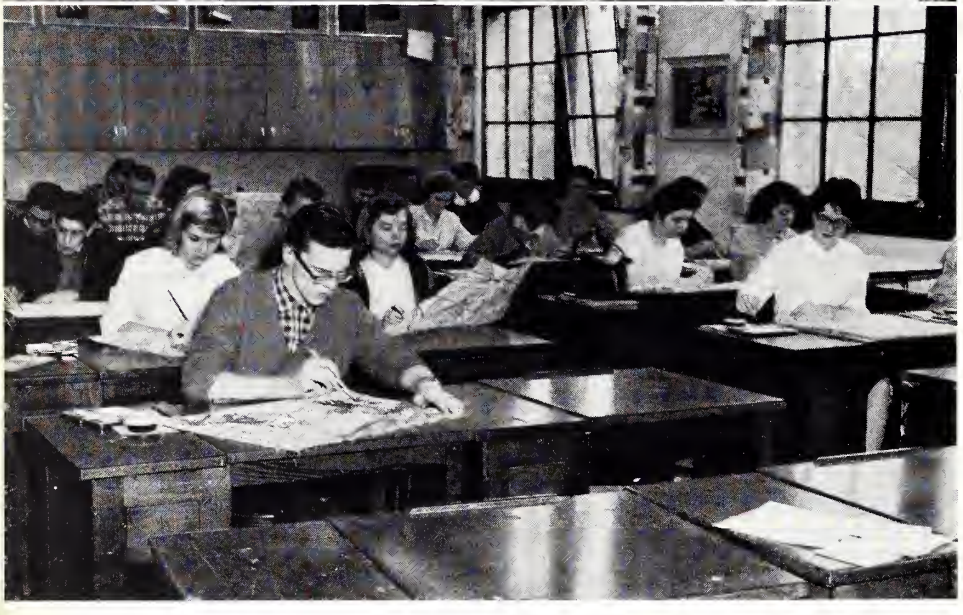
In big politics this would make an incriminating picture at a Federal hearing. However, this is not big politics.

From the Hi-Fi come the strains of "Heigh-ho Silver" by Kenny Tibbs. Here is Silver dancing now.

This is the Union Tree.

These are people under the Union Tree. Sure is a nice tree.

We think this is chem lab.



No, on second thought, it looks more like art.

We know this is out of ploce but we hod to put it in becouse you see, Virginia, there is o Santo Clous.

FLAG BECOMES RIVALRY SYMBOL

Remember the rivalry that started between Bloom Community college and Thornton junior college earlier this year when our glorious tree was copped by the Vikings? Well, this rivalry has received a shot in the arm thanks to a counter-prank carried on by a number of TJC students.

A TJC flag, displayed Monday night from the roof of BCC, was immortalized when the two schools agreed to preserve it as a trophy of victory in athletic meets between the two schools.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council tries to govern school affairs as much as possible . . . which isn't much sometimes. One of its main functions is to give away money. Actually, it helps to stabilize the student body's wealth by taking it from individuals and apportioning it to groups. This provides for a smooth, well running organization.

There are two persons, not shown on these pictures, whom the council was very lucky to have as advisors this year. They are Mrs. Fesler and Mr. Ring. They gave their utmost consideration and cooperation to the students.

Jim "Straight News" Linse, editor of JC's scandal sheet. "Straight News" put out a good paper this year but sometimes felt quite tied down . . . at least upon one occasion.

The publishing of a bi-monthly paper is by no means an easy task, and as any Courier editor will tell you, it involves a great deal of work and co-operation on the part of all staff members. Often too, the publication of an extra issue for a special event such as the Homecoming makes extra work for the staff. This year, for the first time, the Courier introduced "Tomorrow," the literary supplement which contained the writings of the student body.

The Courier is under the supervision of Miss Ganyo, Minnesota's gift to journalism.

Miss Joy Ganyo, advisor and diplomat.

WE ARE HAUNTED BY

Don Melonder, groduated from CALDRON'S chief prop-houler to CALDRON editor.

This well-organized, close-knit group put together this little masterpiece. But there is really nothing to say about the Caldron staff. This book, as well as Nebbishes, say it for them.

TJC printed its first yearbook in 1946. Then it was called the Crow's Nest to signify the look-out on life as seen from the Courier-Caldron office. This lookout on life—a look-out to the future, a reflection of the past and a mirror of the present, continued as the Crow's Nest until 1951 when the name was changed to the Caldron.

The Caldron is symbolic of the fact that college is an assimilation, a boiling down of ideas, theories and principles.

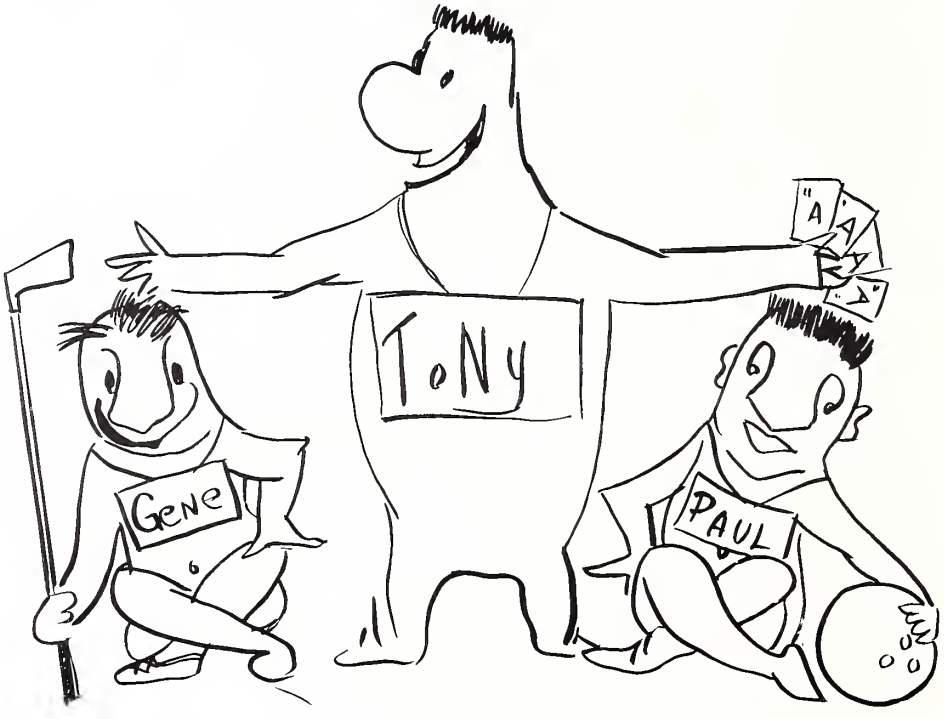
Why isn't there a picture here? We know but it's not like we wanted it this way. You see, the officers of the board were supposed to be here. However, there just was not a surplus of board officers second semester. Paul Santefort was the only one out of three left.

The other two were popular figures on the campus and we're sorry they're not pictured here. They were Tony Sarna, president, and Gene Roeder, vice-president. If you have forgotten what they look like, however, you may turn to pages 85 and 84 to see the respective persons.



A quiet respectable group. Anderson, go back and sit down, now that your picture's taken.

SMOKERS

What have been the Men's Club's contribution to the college this year? They added their bit to the spirit by sponsoring the Sleighbell Ball, providing for the most successful Mother-Son Banquet, and presenting the smokers which are off limits to the women of the college, although the Men's Club tries to see that there are plenty in the movies.

CO-ED CLUB

Most of the chicks that come to JC join an organization known as the Co-ed Club which is under the sponsorship of Miss Grace Holton, Dean of Women. They even have their own room—a place of quiet and repose—which comes under the name of Co-ed Room, to be differentiated from that ever popular Union Room.

Besides just being here, the co-eds contribute to many other JC activities. They hold the annual Staggette Dance which is a good excuse for them to get a date with that guy they've been after all year. They have a date with another guy, too, when they hold their Dad-Daughter Banquet. In addition, they hold their own private parties, called teas and dinners.

If the men can't find the co-eds anywhere else they can find them supplying food for thought from the kitchen in the Union Room.

Millie Havill, general manager.

The Drama Club, which has been organized for only two seasons, has produced three fine plays. Last year, they put on "Goodnight Caroline" and "The Glass Menagerie."

This year, we all enjoyed their presentation of "Dial M for Murder." "Dial M" featured Chris Tipple, Karen Sipple, Fred Fallin, Jim Naylor, Don Stankus and Paul Menke. Set, lights and staging were in the hands of Paul Menke and crew.

The faculty advisors of the Drama Club are Mr. Charles Lawrence and Mr. Glenn Schuermann.

"And then what, Inspectar?"

The trap.

Pat Buck, business manager.

Fred Fallin, technical directar.

Mary Kastenski, secretary.

CHORUS

Now here's a real swingin' group under the direction of Mr. Lyle Hopkins. It's called the TJC chorus made up of JC'ers who like to sing. Every Tuesday and Thursday they warble to Adele Herdt's piano sounds. At the time of this writing they are planning to make their first public appearances of the year soon.

Row 1: Britta Olsson, Carol Van Kley, Alice Hartwig, Flora Gaskin, Debbie Akerberg, Donna Clayton.
Row 2: Alice Cole, Sharan Eyelander, Judy Morris, Adele Herdt, Theresa Christopher, Barbara Jankowski, Mrs. Jaan Clayton, Mary Christopher.
Raw 3: Ken Visser, Jerry Van Kley, Chris Tipple, Gerald Compton, Frank Fliszar.

CHEERLEADERS

This page is dedicated to the most persistent spirit behind the mighty Bulldogs. These six dolls, minus one, were advised by Miss Wetzel, a real swingin' P.E. instructor. Carol Hercules was the captain. JC was unfortunate in losing one of this squad when Sandy Lotz left school at the end of the first semester.

Fred: "My life's ambitions were to be either a cheerleader or Rudy Valee, so I finally made a compromise."

On the whole it seemed that there was less interest in bowling this year, because it was necessary to cut the league from twenty-four to twenty teams. The league, divided into two sections, orange and black, was a great outlet for pent-up emotions.

Again as in past years the bowling club had its annual Christmas party, along with the banquet at the season's end.

Trophies were awarded to the top teams at the banquet. Bowling officers this year were as follows: President, Don Anderson; Vice-President, Pat Hyry; Treasurers, Gene Roeder, and Bob Kiersey; and Secretaries, Sandy Lotz and Roberta Jaworski.

Good form and a good ball by Dave Froschauer.

FRENCH CLUB

L'Alliance Francaise

A trip through the sewers of Paris, and an invitation to the International Christmas party are just two of the advantages of being a member of L'Alliance Francaise, or the French Club. Under the sponsorship of Miss Wunderlich, the club meetings emphasize conversational French, which differs greatly from the formal exercises done in the classroom.

Frant: Audrey Antkavic, president.
Back: Susan Lentz, secretary-treasurer.
Nat pictured: Sandy Lotz, vice-president.

GERMAN CLUB

Der Deutsche Verein

The German Club, or Der Deutsche Verein as it is called by its members, features meetings filled with songs, skits, and games planned to give the members a better understanding of the German people and their customs. Under the direction of Miss Hills, the sponsor, they also take part in the International Christmas party.

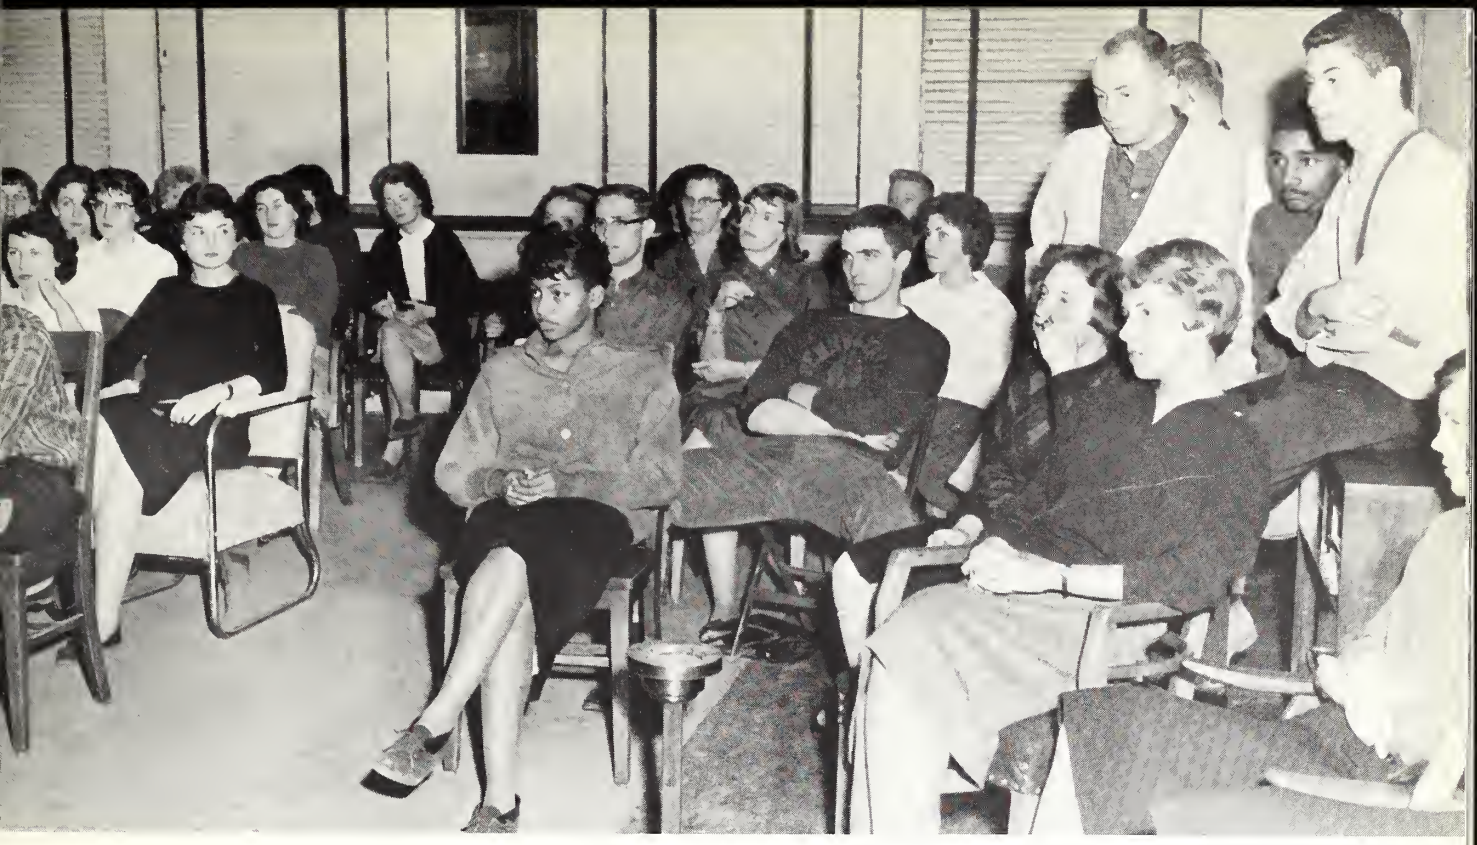
Frant: Cecil Ewell, president.
Back: Everett Jones, vice-president.
Nat pictured: Walter Taft, president first semester, and Russ Reiland, secretary-treasurer.

SPANISH CLUB

El Circulo Espanol

To promote an interest in the Spanish people and the mode of life is the chief aim of El Circulo Espanol. It is also under the supervision of Miss Wunderlich.

Front: Karen Lindquist, secretary-treasurer.
Back: Dave Hirtz, president.
Nat pictured: Mrs. Crea Harvey, vice-president.



They really enjoyed themselves more than this picture shows at the annual language club Christmas party.

Bracken's a lousy pinata breaker but an excellent stick bender.

The all-German quartet with Leon Hollingsworth, Ken Visser, Russ Reiland and Everett Jones.

GYM JAM

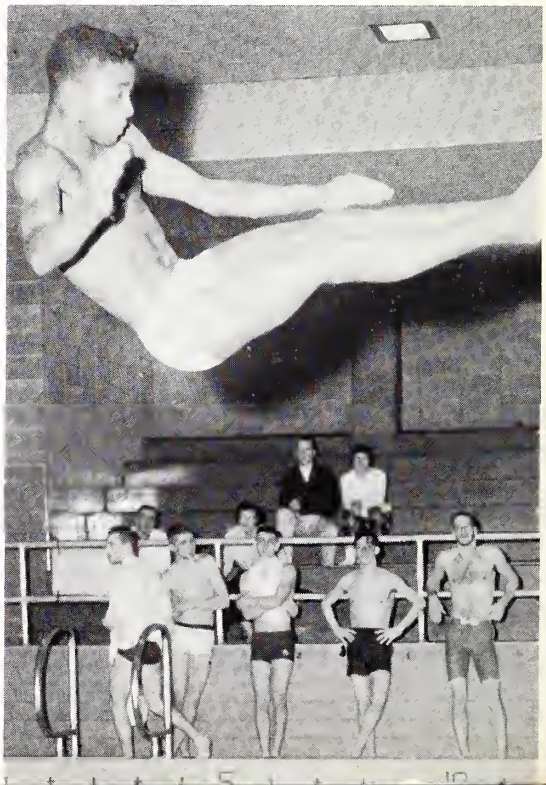
As an affair with something for everyone the gym jam rates highest in drawing the JC crowds. For those who like to wear themselves out, basketball is offered. Then there's volleyball on the coeducational level. And there are the less strenuous activities like badminton, shuffle board and ping-pong. And don't forget that cooling dip in the pool.

After this time of horsing around there's dancing to some real swinging records, and the night breaks up with a "Are you going to Geovanni's?" or "Let's go bowling."

Don: "You're laakin' gaad, kid."

Bill and Raberta vie with ane another to see just WHO is gaing ta spike that ball.

Well, you can't expect it to just fall into your hands, can you?



Taylor twists and dives.

Freshmen dig their heels into the mud.

Doster, in white, checks sophomore line.

May be the wrong year but we needed the picture.

BOULDERINO

Last year's Boulderino drew the greatest JC crowd ever seen in one place at one time. It began with the Bouldergras. The Bouldergras began with a two ton rock. The two ton rock began with the forces of nature but because we don't have our noted geology student with us we won't go into that.

The JC'ers did something the City of Harvey couldn't do since this small mountain busted one of their water mains. We moved that boulder two blocks by means of levers, pulleys, ropes, rollers, loud speakers, and just plain muscle, to its resting place in front of Annex C where we christened it with a bottle of bubbling champagne.

That was Monday. On Friday the JC'ers, clad in Bermuda shorts, formed a parade to Thornton Woods where the strength of the freshmen and sophomores was to be contested by means of a tug-of-war over a fresh spring creek. The sophs were soaked, legally; the frosh were attacked and drenched illegally along with some faculty members. Right, Mr. Sathers?

The day was completed with picnics and such activities as baseball, "races," and walks through the woods.

Sophomores pulling.

Sophomores being pulled . . . in and through.

FOOTBALL REVIEW

Our TJC gridders did it agoin. Did whot? They won o shore of the Northern Illinois Junior College chompionship for the fifth year in a row.

This year's squad compiled a brilliant 6-2 overoll record. Along with this come the recognition that TJC had one of the better junior college teams in the nation.

This year's squad had mony fine footboll players, such os offensive leaders Dornell Sonford ond Bart Pettice, olong with defensive stolworts such os Owen Dejonovich, Andy Lowrence and Dick Nelson. This was o greot teom effort ond we are looking forward to another good teom next year.

BASKETBALL REVIEW

There is only one word that can be used to describe this year's basketball squad and that is desire. This team suffered immeasurably from a lack of height, but because they were determined had one of TJC's most successful seasons in a long time.

This was a well balanced squad in scoring with big 6 foot, 7 inch John Lau leading the team, followed closely by sharpshooter Ernie Davis, defensive specialist Dave Hirtz, and playmakers Jake Williams and Darnell Sanford.

Our team played a slow, deliberate type of game and stressed defense quite a bit.

BASEBALL REVIEW

Last season under the direction of Mr. McAlvey, our Bulldogs divided six games in league play, winning three and losing three, while compiling a 4-5-1 season slate.

Last year's squad was comprised of Ron Burke, Jim Caton, Don Cooley, Ernie Davis, Cecil Ewell, Bob Evers, Carlos Medrano, Frank Kemp, Dick Lynn, Sam Pavlak, Russell Ferrell, Larry Whitlow, Roy Johnson, Bruce Doll, and Stan Latting.

It looks like next year's squad will produce another fine season for TJC.

Row 1: Bill Keller, Bill Hambric.
Row 2: Coach Bob Anderson, Bob Bella, George Roberts, John Corson.

GOLF REVIEW

Hey! Do you remember what happened last October 16? Well, that was the day our divot diggers won the conference golf title.

This was the first golf title at TJC since 1949. This year's squad was comprised of co-medalist George Roberts, Bob Bella, Bill Hambric, Bill Keller, and John Corson.

Again this year, Mr. Robert Anderson was the golf coach. We are looking forward to another fine season next year. Let's hope we don't have to wait ten years for another title.

TRACK REVIEW

The 1959 track team carried TJC colors again. Our Bulldogs placed second in its only tri-angular meet and fourth in the conference meet.

Bob Hurckes, captain, won first place in the shotput at the conference meet. Other medal winners were Rod Coyle, Dave Ring, and Rich Bracken. Other members of the squad were Ron Burke and Bill Mason.

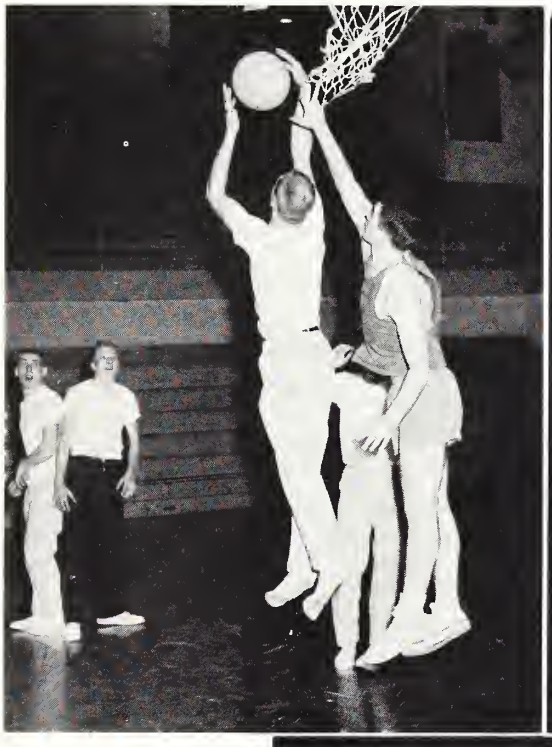
This page is dedicated to the various sport shots seen around TJC.

A sport commonly known as volleyball.

This is one kind of jump.

A common sport known as tumbling.

This is another kind of jump
but of a more interesting nature.



This is another type of tumbling, only it's a community affair, not individual.

MEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The men at TJC keep in shape by taking gym classes. But O boy! what a shape.

The men can play basketball, baseball, football; it is also possible to take swimming or weightlifting.

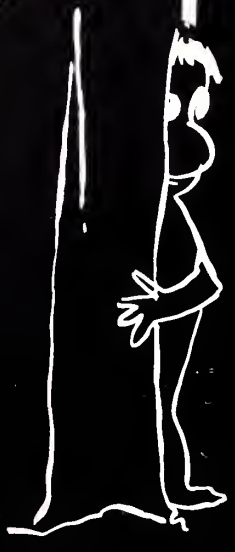
WOMEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Miss Begnoche, this past year, has taken over the job of directing the Women's Physical Education classes. The women of TJC participate in a variety of activities including tennis, volleyball, archery, swimming, golf, basketball and dance.

The wamen of JC have a new Physical Educatian instructor. It's . . . it's . . . it's Fred Fallin, student at JC. Fred is especially talented in the arts of the dance which he is here displaying to the pleasure af the women . . . to his pleasure alsa.

It's a funny sensatian.

Sophomores



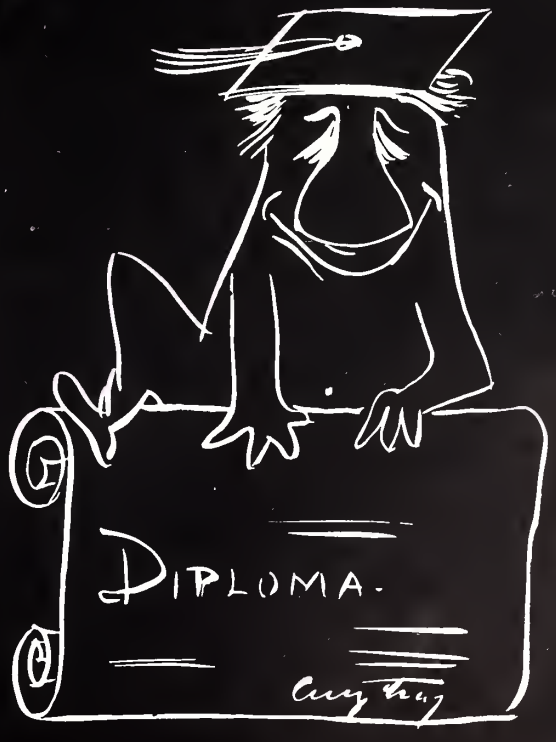
The Sophomore Closs officers this yeor were Rich Turek, president, and Jean Smith, secretory-treosurer, pictured on the opposite poge. This couple, like the rest of the closs, together hos woded through the lost two yeors of sweot and blood ond is now reody to pass on.

Perhops the deeds of this closs will not be handed down to posterity, but eoch student will long remember whot he (or she) hos occomplished. To the sophomores went the responsibility of leoding the college. Whot they hove done with this leadership is up to eoch student to decide.

So now the Sophomore Closs comes to its finol rest in the Caldron. Perhops some feel regret ot hoving gone to TJC. And yet, neorly everyone, when he looks bock on this experience, will entertoin nostolgic thoughts. For this wos life too.

Tomorrow, os the sophs move up to fill greoter shoes, the closs below will move up to fill the shoes left behind, and Time marches on. The friends thot hove been mode will be seen ogoin . . . or they will not be seen. But they will be remembered. And what hos here been done will be remembered.

Perhops the sophs will return but never ogoin will they be o port of IT—the spirit of TJC. So the doors close behind them and they go out once ogoin into the owful responsibility of Time. . . .



DIPLOMA.

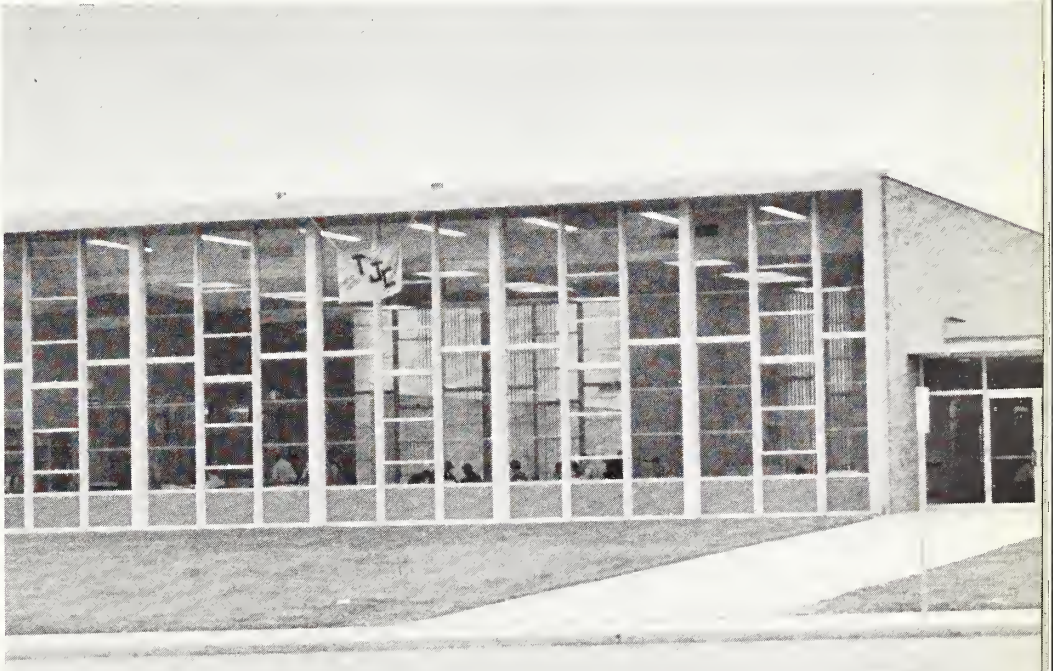
JC'ers and drum at the Bloom game.

JC victory flag flying from roof of Bloom Community College. It seems that a highly interested group from TJC got the tremendous idea to make a flag. A sheet was dyed orange and big black letters were painted on.

The night was dark. Shadowy figures were perceived running across BCC's roof. The flag, unfurled, flew in the wind, signifying JC's mighty spirit.

BCC brought the flag to the game the next night. They had done some improvising, as one could see when they hung it in the gym. Across the flag were inscribed these words in red: "We came, we saw, we conquered." But Bloom lost the game and JC kept the flag.

Now it is hanging on the Union tree and is a symbol of friendly rivalry. When JC plays BBC the flag will be the trophy. Whoever wins the game wins the flag . . . until the next time.



Freshman

The afficers af the Freshman Class this year were Rich Pagaria, president, and Judy Marris, secretary-treasurer, seen on the appasite page. Orchids ta these freshmen leaders.

The freshmen af taday are JC's tamarraw. They became canditianed this year ta carry an the JC traditian of impraving conditians next year. They have come ta knaw what JC is, and whether they have became seriaus, cynical, ar mirthful as a result af these canditions daesn't really matter. What these attitudes result in next year is what daes caunt.

The freshmen have alsa learned that abave this grim situatian lies the spirit of the student bady—its valleys and peaks. They knaw the jive af the Unian Raam, the relaxatian af the Ca-ed Raam, and the quiet study af the library. They knaw what spirit makes a gaad dance, a goad game, a good gym jam. . . .

Gaod luck ta them thraughaut the summer and throughaut whatever they do next year. But especially gaad luck ta them if they return next year. Keep plugging.

GRADUATION

A graduatian is always an impressive and stirring ceremany. Perhaps a Jc graduation is not the biggest thing in a student's life but it certainly fulfills these two other qualifications.

To many af these grads JC has been a transition fram high schaol to institutians af yet higher learning. This ceremony is perhaps the most impressive to them for it marks finality of their callege life.

Ta others the ceremony is but another mark in their college career, but it is one they will remember for it is the last of the gaad times at Tharntan JC.

Nadine Abramavitz and Jean Andersan lead the graduatian pracessian.

Standing: Jim Buckman, Audrey Antkavic, Peter Hatton, Barb Anderson, Jerry Knight, Jackie Kroll, Dan Melander, Judy Bukowski, Joyce Kramer.

Twa Genes, Sadus and Silvey, help Mary Jo Feldes put an robe.

Chris Fox, Judy Machen, Carol London, and Don Logsdan march inta the Auditorium to that old familiar tune, "Pomp and Circumstance."

Mr. Ehlert, president of the Board, pictured here handing out diplamas while Dr. Logsdan and speaker Dr. Lawell B. Fisher laok on, and Dean Dulgar calls out the manickers.

Anather big moment af a JCer's life at Thornton.

The reception line af natables and ushers greet the parents and friends af the new grads.

Judy Bukawski serves "legal" punch to the guests. The girl and man in the foregraund are the sister and father of last year's CALDRON editar, Martha Brainerd.
